Welcome to the FABTECH International & AWS Welding Show!

Every year, many Albertans attend FABTECH International & AWS Welding Show, North America's largest metal forming, fabricating, finishing and welding event. The show this year takes place in the Georgia World Congress Center, Atlanta Georgia (November 2-4, 2010), and planners anticipate 22,000 visitors and over 1,000 exhibiting companies covering more than 350,000 square feet.

The Canadian Centre for Welding and Joining (CCWJ) at the University of Alberta is trying to coordinate the travels of Canadians in general, and firms that do business in and around Alberta, to maximize networking opportunities and mutual benefit for the attendees. This visit will open the doors to the latest generation of technology and expertise to Canadian industry as a whole, and to Albertan industries in particular. Having the simultaneous participation of Canadian industry representatives and welding researchers promises to create tremendous synergistic opportunities.

For more information about a coordinated conference visit, please go to the CCWJ website (www.cme.engineering.ualberta.ca/welding).

Free Tradeshow Passes Available:

Please contact Joel Pepin (joel.pepin@albertainnovates.ca), AWS Alberta Section Chairman, by October 15, 2010, for free tickets to the tradeshow ($50 value). Please provide a mailing address.
