Chapter N – Quality Control and Quality Assurance

Matthew D. Brady, PE, LEED Green Associate, is the Upper Midwest Regional Engineer for the American Institute of Steel Construction. He represents the Institute in the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Working with project decision makers, he can connect members of the design team with the resources of the steel production and fabrication community to help assess the viability of a structural steel option on upcoming projects. He is also an educational resource to the design community on technical and economic aspects of building with structural steel.

AISC has added a new chapter in the 2010 Specification, Chapter N—Quality Control and Quality Assurance. This Steel Talk will discuss the reasons why AISC included this new chapter, and how Chapter N provides both a high level of assurance and a consistent set of inspection requirements. Most of the requirements of Chapter N are derived from current requirements in the IBC and those in related standards, such as AWS D1.1 and the RCSC Specification. Chapter N makes these requirements clear and places them in a single document.

THURSDAY February 20, 2014. Joint meeting with ASM and the speaker will be a financial adviser from Edward Jones to discuss the financial and investment outlook for 2014. Place and time TBD.

An affiliate of the American Welding Society (AWS). Statements, other expressions of opinion or fact as well as legal obligations undertaken herein are solely those of the Mahoning Valley Section and not of AWS. The meeting setting is casual, reservations are not necessary but welcomed. AWS CLEVELAND SECTION to present
Clinic to Provide In-Depth Study of D1.1 Code

Have questions about the current AWS D1.1 Code? Then find answers during a six-session
American Welding Society D1.1 Code Clinic that starts February 26, 2014 in Cleveland. AWS Cleveland Section Education Committee Chairman Dan Harrison says industry experts will present an in-depth study of the latest D1.1 code during the six sessions. The cost, including the current D1.1
Code book and study guide, for AWS members is $600.00 and for non-members $695.00. The non-member cost includes an AWS membership. Individuals can audit the course without a codebook or study guide for $295.00.

The clinic will run Wednesday evenings from 6 to 9 p.m.
starting February 26 through March 26, 2014 at Lincoln
Electric, 22801 St. Clair Avenue, Euclid, OH 44117.
Registration and payment for the D1.1 Code Clinic is due by January 24, 2014. For registration, call Dan at 330-483-3919 or email: daehar@aol.com. Make checks payable to AWS Cleveland Section, with D1.1 Clinic in the memo line, and mail the checks to AWS Cleveland Section, D1.1,
PO Box 479
Grand River, OH 44045.

District Scholarship Program

What kind of financial aid is available through the AWS
District Scholarship Program?

AWS offers scholarship funds that, once awarded, are payable directly to the school to which you have been accepted. It will cover the cost of tuition, books, supplies and related institutional costs.

How do I apply for financial assistance?

To participate in the District Scholarship Program, download and complete the online application, supply the requested documents and information, and pack them in an envelope.
Mail the package to the AWS Foundation 8669 Doral Blvd.,
Suite 130, Doral, Fl 33166, Attention Nazhdia Prado-Pulido, Coordinator, Foundation.

When should I apply?

Actually, you can apply any time. The deadline for receiving applications at the Foundation office, however, is March 1.
Scholarships are awarded usually from May to June, with the funds made available for the coming fall term.

Note of Member's Passing

AWS Members should note the passing of one of our beloved members. Neil E. “Red” Stertzbach, 77, who died Saturday November 9, 2013. He was a 1954 graduate of Youngstown Chaney High School and would then serve in the U.S. Navy aboard the USS Boston in the Mediterranean Sea. He worked at Wean United for over 31 years, retiring manufacturing engineer at Northeast Manufacturing, where he was still currently employed.

He was a member of the American Welding Society, and an active member of the Youngstown Saxon Club. In 1987, he was honored as its man of the year for his dedicated service since becoming a member in 1972. He had served as the club's head trustee, second vice president, and for years was involved with the club’s youth organizations, including reorganizing and managing the club’s baseball team and running basketball tournaments. He also served on other committees, including serving as branch 30s bocce commissioner. He was appointed to the Alliance of Transylvanian Saxons Youth National Committee in 1980, and in 1985 elected as a trustee. In 1990, he served as U.S.
Youth Group Leader at the Alliance’s Youth Rally in Austria, and in 1991, was awarded the ATS Honor Pin, the highest award recognized by the organization. He will be greatly missed by our section.

AWS STUDENT SECTION NEWS

The CCCTC Welding students are about to embark on their welding careers and we are looking for places that are hiring and do job placements for the high school and Adult Education students.

Our Seniors are looking for job placement sites to start their careers. They are available to work Monday thru Thursday, starting at noon till? They have school on Fridays.

CCCTC welding program is always looking for material donations to learn and practice with.
If your company has any materials they would like to donate, please contact Huck Hughes.

If you have any questions about the new lab or program feel free to contact Huck Hughes or Michelle Fitzsimmons.
